

Symposium on Biodiversity in Scotland and AGM

Saturday 12 October 2019

Kelvin Hall Lecture Theatre, University of Glasgow, Glasgow G3 8AW

10.30 Registration open and refreshments available at Kelvin Hall café

11.00 Introduction

11.10 Professor Nigel Willby, University of Stirling

'Beavers: what they do for biodiversity and what they do for us'

11.40 Charles Dundas, Woodland Trust, Scotland

'Scotland's native woodland: Our most biodiverse habitat'

12.10 Toby Wilson, RSPB Scotland

'Monitoring and conserving nature in our cities'

12.40 Discussion

13.00 Royal Society of Biology in Scotland AGM

<https://www.rsb.org.uk/regional-activity/scotland>