

HARPUR SCIENCE FORUM LECTURE

THE NEW GENETICS:

HOW UNDERSTANDING DNA COULD TRANSFORM
YOUR LIFE IN SICKNESS AND IN HEALTH

BEDFORD SCHOOL

THURSDAY 8 MARCH, 4.45PM - 5.45PM | REFRESHMENTS FROM 4.15PM

Professor Cathryn Lewis, Professor of Genetics Epidemiology & Statistics, King's College London will be discussing 'The new genetics: How understanding DNA could transform your life in sickness and in health' in our last Harpur Science Forum Lecture of the Spring term.

This free lecture should be of particular use to those with an interest in biology and/or mathematics. The lecture is open to pupils of all ages. Although the focus will be on Sixth Form pupils (Y12-Y13), it should be accessible to all able pupils to some degree.
